

Managing Your Wet Waste

Overview: Wet waste accounts for 60% waste generated in our homes. When wet waste is mixed, it gets dumped in the landfills. In landfill, wet waste release methane due to anaerobic conditions. Methane is one of the biggest contributor of global warming. Managing the wet waste at source through composting is good for both environment and living being

Objective: To educate the audience on the importance and process of wet waste management through composting .

Content: Hands on activity

Duration: 60 minutes

Audience: Company employees/ school students and staff/ any interested resident of the city

Outcome:

- Individuals adopt wet waste composting in their school/homes/society/company